THE LOCUST VISITATION.

A Lancaster authority gives the Information that the farmers of the State have little to fear from the respectatance of the seventeen-year locusts during the coming summer. He says: "The locust, as is well known, deposits its eggs in the stender twigs of trees, and they are easily broken off by the winds at the wounded places. Sometimes the damage done has been very great, but in this locality at least it is becoming less so at every reappearance of the locusts. "This is clearly due to the advance in agriculture and the decrease in our wooded area. A century and more ago. when forests covered the greater portion of the State, and when the cultivated area was not half so great as it is now, the cicada could find a place to deposit its eggs on every square rod of ground. nidus, and the plowshare may interfere very seriously with the immature insect.

" Panse who have noted the periodical vis.ts of the locusts must have noticed the lessening numbers, at each succeeding period, and we have, therefore, reason for believing that the visitation of the present year will be the smallest in numbers than any within our history. The farmer need have no tear from the

CORN CULTIVATION.

Get Your Seed Bed in Prime Condition Before Planting

The corn should be planted deep enough to secure sufficient moisture for the best germination, but not so deep that it will be placed in a cold, wet soil where the kernel is hable to rot and de cay and in any event to cause protracted accumulation, which is injurious to the Hant The cultivation of the corn crop mus depend upon the condition of sea ms soil, and the amount of weeds in the field. The cultivation of the crop is for the turpose of destroying weeds conserving soil moisture and aerating he soil. The weedings of the field will depend upon the work done on the sect ted If the seed bed has been properly I milled, preparatory to planting most of the weeds will have been destroyed, s) that the principal object of cultivater is that of conserving the soil moist the The best results of experiments und from practical experience are to the effect that continued cultivation, seep ms, a loose mulch on the surface or the and gives the best results. CAREFUL FARMING.

The Immers' Guide tells of an east on farmer who was making his first visit to a large farm in North Dagota They were then drawing in the flax from things field to be threshed. He notices that much was left in the field and n gened when they intended to gather it up liney said they never bothered with the scatterings out there, and when he spoke about the waste he was offered a team and wagon to gather thup if I e wanted it and all he could get out of the rakings. It took ! im about two hours to gather a load s hich he took to the machine and had the shed, getting thirteen bushels of the influx-seed, worth $1 40 a bushel, or $18 So for two hours' work. 'It has I was about to say so I was obliged to put on a sock with hole in the heel this morning because you have no interest in my wardrebe, 'Yes it was a sock with a hole in the heel the only one in the drawer There were a dozen office socks but of course you had to get the one with a hole in. You tumbled them all out on the floor to get that particular one What is complaint No 42 Mr Bowser choked and gasped and minute she calmly continued I brought you down I fresh hand keichief this morning and left it on the hall tree where you could not help but see it but you went away without it More than that you took a raphin from the breakfast table You shouldn't do such a thing as that, Mr Bowset-tou really shouldn't I are sume you pulled that napkin out on the car and flourished it around and"-

"We will now hear complaint No 5 You hunted up an old hat last night to wear out in the back yard and after you had left for the office this morning discovered that you had worn the old hat away I presume some one spot e of the dust on it?"
"They did—they did" be yelled
'And the big dent in it?"
"Yes the dent'
'And the broken bilm and the rust

"And I presume you have at least Woman-woman'"I should have thought they would, for I can smell it plainly yet. Turpen tine has its uses M: Bowser but it is
